U.S. Wants Information on Prisoners

By DAVID MASON
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — The United States asked the Vietnamese Communists today to supply information on the number of American prisoners known to be dead.

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter made the request at the 131st session of the Vietnam peace talks.

"Surely you can provide without harm to yourselves information concerning those of our men you know to be dead," Porter said. "Are you disposed now to say how providing this kind of information could possibly harm you?"

Recalling last Monday's unanimous vote by the U.S. House of Representatives demanding humane treatment of American prisoners and immediate repatriation of the sick and wounded, Porter called on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to give the resolution "your most careful consideration."

There was no immediate reaction from the Communist side.

Last December, the North Vietnamese issued a list of 339 prisoners they hold. They also included the names of 20 who had died. The United States feels the listings are short of reality. About 1,360 Americans are listed by Washington as missing in Southeast Asia, mostly in North Vietnam.

Porter called on the Vietnamese Communists to being "a peaceful dialogue with your fellow Vietnamese for the benefit of your people. If you can bring yourselves to that, it would rekindle the hopes of all men of goodwill in the future of these talks."

While agreeing to sit at the same conference table with the South Vietnamese, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong insist on dealing with the United States in seeking an end to the war. They constantly write off the South Vietnamese as "U.S. puppets."

The conference session turned largely around assessments of Sunday's presidential elections in South Vietnam, in which President Nguyen Van Thieu running unopposed claims he received a 94.3 per cent vote of confidence.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegates blasted the elections as a "horrible farce" and "a hundred per cent impudent deception."

Porter told the Communists that they claimed that the South Vietnamese were "fiercely resisting" the elections, and asked: "Who were all those people who voted? Since you usually don't like to answer questions, I will: They are the great majority who once again did not bow to your threats." Nguyen Minh Vy, deputy chief of the North Vietnamese delegation, asserted the South Vietnamese election and the recent U.S. bombing of North Vietnam illustrated the failure of Vietnamization. He urged the United States to accept the Communists' peace proposal as "the only logical way out of the war."

Marijuana Brings Arrests

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) — Three Walnut Ridge residents were arrested Wednesday and charged with possession of marijuana.

Authorities identified the three as Clyde Brooks, Frankie Boozer and David Gray, all 20.

A spokesman said a small amount of marijuana was found on one of the three when officers stopped a car for a routine check. All three were released on bond.

$21 Billion Arms Bill to House

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $21-billion military procurement bill, its major weapons programs intact after an 82-4 romp through the Senate, headed today for another House battle over a call for U.S. withdrawal from Indochina in six months.

Last June, the House rejected a similar amendment by a vote of 219 to 176 but its sponsor, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, has expressed hope of winning acceptance this time.

A showdown vote is likely sometime next week, House sources said.

The only other provision in the Senate's version of the big arms bill that could cause difficulties is the amendment by Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., adding $381 million for the lower enlisted grades to the $2.4 billion military pay raise enacted a

Moisture Is Needed for Area Crops

Rain was needed in Southwest Arkansas late last week to help the germination of small grains and to size late planted soybeans; but the clear, open weather was a boon for the maturing cotton and harvest of rice.

In a series of special crop reports by Agricultural Extension Service agents in the area, the following observations were made:

Two more cases of screwworms were reported in Little River County. Defoliation of cotton was to start this week. Some soybeans were shedding their leaves.

Cotton and soybeans were nearly ready for harvest in Hempstead County but moisture was needed to improve the size of the late planted beans.

Worms were causing some trouble in Miller County soybean fields. The yield of sorghums has only been fair.

Most of the rice in Lafayette County has been harvested with good yields. The defoliation of cotton was started.

The harvest of grass hay has been completed on most Columbia County farms. Seedlings were underway to establish permanent pastures. Horse flies were reported a problem in all areas.

Dry weather the last 3 weeks hastened the maturity of cotton in Nevada County. Early and mid-season soybeans were maturing rapidly.

Close Friend to Nixon Got Very Favorable Treatment, Paper Says

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)

— Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, President Nixon's close friend, received favorable treatment when the federal government bought Florida land from him in 1969, the Long Island newspaper Newsday reports.

The newspaper said Wednesday that Rebozo got a price closer to the appraised value than other sellers got for similar land on one case and in another case received $8,600 more than the appraised value.

Newsday quoted the Army Corps of Engineers official who negotiated the acquisition of property for the Biscayne National Monument, A.E.N. Westcott, as saying that he was led to understand at a meeting of corps officials that Rebozo should be "treated with kid gloves."

"We were supposed to be dealing with someone who was an intimate of people in high places," the newspaper quoted Westcott as saying.

Asked for comment, a spokesman at Rebozo's office on Key Biscayne said the financier was not immediately available, and "we don't know where we can get in touch with him."

Newsday said Rebozo and his associates quickly obtained close-to-appraisal prices on an island plot, while other landowners were being offered lower prices on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

Through an attorney, Rebozo then demanded and received a higher than-appraisal price on a second piece of property, the newspaper report continued.

One official, who the newspaper did not identify, was quoted as saying the speedy handling of Rebozo's claim had been urged because "we didn't want to embarrass an incoming president."

Pickets at Chicago Defy Court Order

CHICAGO (AP) — Picket lines remained up at Chicago area grain elevators today and workers stayed off their jobs despite a court order Wednesday night that they return for 10 days.

Judge Frank J. McGarr of U.S. District Court issued a temporary restraining order to stop the strike of some 225 members of Local 418 of the Grain Elevator, Flour and Feed Mill Workers Union, an affiliate of the National Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO.

The strike at the peak of the shipping season has crippled operations at 11 major grain elevators in Chicago and northern Indiana since Sept. 1.

Judge McGarr's ruling followed President Nixon's request Wednesday for an 80-day cooling off period under the Taft-Hartley Act for longshoremen's strikes throughout the nation.

Gov. Reagan to Represent President

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan will carry personal goodwill messages from President Nixon to Japanese Emperor Hirohito, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and heads of four other nations when he leaves Friday on a two-week Asian tour.

Reagan, his wife Nancy and their 13-year-old son, Skipper, also will visit Taiwan, Singapore, Thailand and South Korea.

"I am very pleased that we are able to undertake this mission for the President," Reagan said in a statement. "In addition to reaffirming the close relations between the Pacific nations and the United States, this trip will enable us to cement trade relations between California and those countries."

The Reagan's first stop in an Air Force jet transport provided by Nixon—other than refueling in Japan—will be in Taipei, Taiwan, where Reagan will represent Nixon at National Day ceremonies Sunday.

Senate Opens Hearing on Tax Package

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) One day after House passage, the Senate Finance Committee opened hearings today on a $15.4-billion tax cut bill which President Nixon is counting on to help revive the economy.

The committee chairman, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said he planned to ask the first scheduled witness, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, if Phase 2 of the administration's economic program will contain provisions to hold down interest rates. They were not included in the 90-day wage-price freeze.

Nixon plans to announce Phase 2 details tonight on nationwide radio and television.

Long said in a prepared statement he thinks the House-passed version still does too much for business and not enough for individual taxpayers.

Judges Have Temporarily Halted Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Responding to Nixon administration pleas, federal judges have temporarily halted longshoremen's strikes against West Coast docks and the Port of Chicago.

The judges Wednesday night directed strikers to return to work for 10 days, pending hearings on whether the moratorium should be extended the full 80 days allowed by the Taft-Hartley Law.

The West Coast walkout, at 99 days the longest longshoremen's strike experienced in the region, has idled 15,000 dockworkers and cost affected states more than $1.7 billion.

The Chicago walkout of grain-elevator operators 35 days ago has kept 500 grain-handling members of the longshoremen's union off the job.

The suits were initiated on orders of President Nixon who cited the report of a special four-man council he had created under the Taft-Hartley Law to investigate the shipping situation.

East and Gulf Coast dockworkers, also striking, were reported trickling back to work at some ports, in expectation of Taft-Hartley action but Nixon did not use the law in their dispute. Instead, he sent a team of federal officials to New York where it was hoped the dispute could be mediated.

The San Francisco court set Friday morning as the date for a hearing on the West Coast suit. In Chicago, Oct. 15 is the hearing date.

The government said continuation of the Chicago and West Coast tieups might "imperil the national health and safety."

Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin said in an affidavit that Japan and other nations are concerned about the United States' ability to deliver agricultural commodities.

Meanwhile, the soft-coal-industry strike of some 100,000 miners in 20 states continued without a sign of progress. Negotiations were to resume today after halting early Wednesday afternoon so United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle could make an appearance in a federal court case.

Wholesale Price Decline Credited to Items Not Covered by the Freeze

Nixon's 2nd Phase of Freeze Likely to Be Based on Productivity

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon unveils the nation tonight his post-freeze economic package, a complex program of wage-price restraints likely to be based on productivity.

When Nixon goes before nationwide television and radio at 7:30 p.m. EDT, he will strip away the mystery that has surrounded the program, popularly known as Phase 2, since he imposed the 90-day wage-price freeze Aug. 15.

This much is known: The White House has virtually ruled out any controls on profits, and has left the door open only slightly to ceilings on interest rates. Some sort of controls on medical costs is expected.

The biggest question is how much wages and prices will be allowed to rise after the freeze expires Nov. 13. The White House has been super secret on this point, although economists are guessing wages would be allowed to go up 5 per cent.

Productivity—Worker output per man-hour, a gauge of the efficiency of the U.S. economy—is likely to be the key to the Phase 2 plan. Productivity has been rising at about 3 per cent a year.

But there is also a question of whether the wage guidelines should include a cost-of-living allowance to take into account price increases.

How the program will be enforced is just as big a mystery as the wage-price restraints.

Government sources said the Cost of Living Council, set up by Nixon to administer the freeze, likely will continue as the chief policymaking agency in Phase 2.

But beyond that, the alternatives range widely. Organized labor has called for a wage-price review board including members of labor, management and the public, with a voluntary Phase 2 program.

But Nixon says the program "will have teeth," will cover the entire economy, yet focus on major industries. In other economic developments:

—Federal judges, on request of the Justice Department, moved to temporarily halt a lingering West Coast dock strike and a month-old shipping tieup in Chicago.

—The Senate Finance Committee planned to start work today on a bill to cut business and individual taxes $15.4 bil-

Pay Freeze Upheld in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate upheld today President Nixon's action in postponing for six months a scheduled Jan. 1 pay raise of about 6 per cent for federal employees.

As the House had done the first of the week by a 207-174 vote, the Senate rejected a resolution to disapprove of the President's order.

The Senate vote was 51 to 32. The delay in the federal pay raise was ordered by Nixon as part of his new economic program to check inflation and stimulate the economy.

The Senate or the House had until midnight to block it. Sens. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, and Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., backing the resolution, said its only purpose was to assure fair treatment for government employees.

The Senate's Post Office and Civil Service Committee voted 5-3 Wednesday for overturning Nixon's order, thus setting up today's full Senate vote.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices dropped for the first time in nearly a year in September—the first full month of President Nixon's wage-price freeze—and the decline on a seasonally adjusted basis was the largest in five years, the government said today.

The Wholesale Price Index went down three-tenths of one per cent to 114.5 of its 1967 base, meaning it cost $114.50 on the average last month for wholesale food and industrial goods worth $100 four years ago.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the decline was four-tenths of one per cent when seasonal factors were figured in, the largest such drop since October of 1966.

The report said that most of the decline was in items not covered by the price freeze, principally raw farm products and imported goods that are subject to Nixon's temporary 10 per cent tax surcharge.

It said that because of these items, the index can continue to go up or down this month and next despite the freeze which expires Nov. 13.

The report said wholesale food prices dropped 1.4 per cent and that a broad range of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods averaged one-tenth of one per cent lower.

It was the first drop in the key industrial price index in more than three years. Wholesale food prices frequently fluctuate sharply because of weather and crop conditions.

The over-all Wholesale Price Index was 3.2 per cent above a year earlier.

The seasonally adjusted drop of four-tenths of one per cent in September compared with an average monthly increase of four-tenths in the previous six months the report said.

It said the decline in industrial prices was largely due to higher rebates for 1971 motor vehicles, widespread declines in machinery and equipment prices and a drop in lumber and wood products that had been rising for the previous eight months.

Prices were also lower for auto tires and tubes and crude rubber.

There were higher prices for electric power and natural gas, metals, and some clothing.

21 Americans Killed in War Last Week

SAIGON (AP) — Twenty-one Americans were killed in combat in Vietnam last week, eight less than the previous week, the U.S. Command reported today.

But the command said the number of U.S. servicemen wounded last week was 117, up 70 from two weeks ago.

South Vietnamese and enemy casualties also increased, the allied commands said.

A U.S. spokesman, Maj. Richard Gardner, said he had no explanation for the rise in American wounded. It was "probably a matter of the reporting system," he said, meaning delays in reports from the field to headquarters.

The South Vietnamese Command reported 306 government troops killed last week and 869 wounded, compared with 263 killed and 615 wounded reported a week earlier.

Allied forces reported they killed 1,739 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong last week, 406 more than in the previous week.

Some of the increase in casualties probably could be attributed to a surge in fighting on the Cambodia-South Vietnam border and to stepped-up Communist shelling attacks just prior to South Vietnam's presidential election last Sunday.

The U.S. Command said 16 Americans died last week from accidents and illness, a rise of 10 deaths over the previous week from nonhostile causes.

U.S. Believes Soviet Push for Security in Europe Is Propaganda

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP) — U.S. diplomats believe the Soviet push for a European security conference may be a propaganda move aimed at strengthening Moscow's position in Eastern Europe.

The Soviets have agreed to talk troops cuts with America and its allies and proposed a security conference as the forum. But the diplomats believe the Kremlin may have an ulterior motive: gaining international recognition for the Communist government of East Germany and maintaining the division between East and West.

Their argument runs like this: The Soviets have been pushing for a European security conference since 1967. They have suggested two subjects for discussion—renunciation of the use of force and better economic cooperation.

U.S. diplomats see little importance in either topic as a way of keeping the peace in Europe.

All members of the United Nations have renounced the use of force by signing its charter. West Germany, which is not a member, has done the same in its pending treaty with the Soviet Union.

Economic cooperation between East and West is going ahead about as fast as it can. It is limited primarily by the lack of anything much in the Soviet Union or Eastern Europe that the West wants to buy.

But just convening a conference would strengthen the Soviet position in Eastern Europe, since all the Communist governments there would have to be invited.

An invitation to East Germany, a government not officially recognized by any of the Western allies, would represent a kind of recognition, much coveted by the East German regime.

This is what the United States wants to avoid. Recognition would deprive West German Chancellor Willy Brandt of an important negotiating tool in his effort to improve chances for the East Germans to cross the Berlin Wall—at least for occasional visits. Western allies have pledged not to join a security conference until there is agreement on Berlin.

But the United States and its allies are eager to negotiate troop cuts with Moscow. It has appears to be too much of a "trickle down" operation, with too little of it ever getting down," he said.

Business would get seven times as much in new permanent tax reductions, he said, while the chief benefits for individuals would amount to speedups in tax cuts previously approved by Congress.

Nixon expressed gratitude Wednesday for House passage of the bill and added that prompt Senate hearings are "another welcome indication of the bipartisan congressional support for the new economic program."

Long doubts his committee will turn the bill into a "Christmas tree" with extraneous amendments, but he pointed out that the bill will be wide open for changes on the Senate floor.

Unlike in the House, the Senate rules permit any amendment to be offered," he said. "And I know there is a temptation for senators to offer their amendments to a bill they know the President will sign."

Long has said he hopes to get the bill to the Senate late in October.

The House bill, in the first three years, would reduce taxes by $5.7 billion for business and by $9.7 billion for individuals.

It provides a 7-per-cent investment tax credit for companies spending on new plant and equipment but slows a fast depreciation allowance put into effect by the Treasury.

The measure also would repeal retroactive to Aug. 15, the 7-per-cent excise tax on autos and the 10-per-cent tax on light trucks.

For individuals, the present $650 personal exemption would be boosted to $750 in 1972 instead of 1973 as now scheduled.

The first $1,300 of income for poverty-level families would be exempt from taxes. The limit now is $1,000.

taken the Soviets three years to say they are willing to—but only as part of a general conference.

The allies Wednesday named Manlio Brosio, former Italian defense minister, to go to Moscow and explore the question. They could not give him detailed instructions because some of the allies, especially Britain and Italy, also want troop reductions linked to a general conference.

$21 BILLION

month ago. Except for the Mansfield and Allott amendments, and a $350-million ceiling on U.S. spending in Laos, the procurement passed the Senate in substantially the same form as it cleared the Armed Services Committee.

A few cuts by that panel—under chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss.—headed off deeper cuts by Pentagon critics and made it possible to pass the bill in just three weeks of debate, shortest in four years.

The $21-billion total is $1.2 billion below the Nixon administration's requests.

Before passing the bill, the Senate rejected 60 to 25 an amendment by Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., designed to force South Vietnam to hold a new presidential election or face total U.S. withdrawal by Feb. 3, 1972.

Also rejected, 44 to 38, was an amendment by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to water down a provision of the Senate bill designed to break the United Nations embargo on trade with Rhodesia. Such a break would allow resumption of U.S. import of chrome ore.

But later, Sen. William Brock, R-Tenn., got through an amendment delaying the provision until Jan. 1. Republican leaders indicated the White House has no plans to use it.

Finally, by a vote of 60 to 27 the Senate adopted an amendment giving federal workers the same pay raises after Jan. 1 as civilian employees get under the wage guidelines of the president's economic program.

The move laid the groundwork for today's vote on blocking Nixon's action in freezing for six months scheduled Jan. 1 pay raise of 6 per cent for federal workers.

The bill authorizes some $13.3 billion for procurement of planes, missiles, ships, tanks, and other weapons plus $7.6 billion for research, development, test and evaluation in the year ending June 30, 1972.

Booths Closed Down at the State Fair

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Nine men were arrested Wednesday night as Pulaski County officials raided booths at the state fair.

The nine were charged with keeping a gambling house. Taken in the raid were more than $2,000 in cash, several gaming devices, a case and a half of untaxed Canadian whisky, more than 100 teddy bears and an undetermined number of stuffed gold donkeys with black ears.

The arrests were made after Deputy Pros. Atty. John Butt and Clarence Cash, an investigator in the prosecutor's office, played the games Wednesday afternoon.

One of the booths where the operators were arrested involved dropping marbles onto a numbered board, Cash said. The operator would then total up the numbers covered by the marbles and have the player look the number up on a chart. This would give the player the number of points he had earned.

The player then would be told if he totaled a certain number of points he would win a prize and some money.

Cash said at one time Wednesday afternoon he was playing $32 to win $640. He said he lost.

Charged were Ronald Goldstein, 26, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; James Myres, 27, of Belle Mead, N.J.; Bernard Mallins, 43, of Miami Beach, Fla.; Walter Meredith, 37, of Tampa, Fla.; Johnnie Guaportone, 38, of Miami; Sam Boatman, 40, of Mission, Kan.; Willy Morris Bone, 41, of Mobile, Ala.; Cyril F. Fears Nixon Economic Dictator

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says Congress should repeal President Nixon's power to freeze wages and prices to prevent him "from becoming an economic dictator."

Proxmire, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, prepared for introduction today a bill to rescind the Economic Stabilization Act, under which Nixon imposed the current 90-day wage-price freeze. The new measure would set up a system built around a five-member wage-and-price review board.

Nixon is to announce tonight the next phase of his new economic program, to supplant the freeze after it expires Nov. 13.

Presumably, Nixon's Phase 2 program will involve measures to be taken under authority of the law Proxmire wants repealed.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott has said Nixon may recommend extension of the act beyond April 30, 1972, as the basis for followup economic restraints.

Scott said he did not know what measures Nixon had decided to invoke in his Phase 2 program. Proxmire said he didn't either.

Some Senate Democrats had advocated an effort to work out in advance congressional alternatives for the post-freeze period.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said: "We'll see what he announces. Then we'll look at the possibilities." Mansfield said the Democrats might arrange a party caucus next week to discuss the entire economic package, including the $15.4-billion in tax cuts proposed by the President. Mansfield has said that proposal is weighted toward business, and might better be shifted to provide relief to consumers with low to moderate incomes.

Before Nixon imposed the wage-price freeze on Aug. 15, Proxmire had repeatedly criticized the President for failure to use the economic-control authority voted him by Congress.

But he said that was consistent with his call today for repeal of the measure. He said he approved of Nixon's freeze order but that the law now has served its purpose.

Insurance Rate Hike Denied

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner A. Gene Sykes said Wednesday that he had denied a request for a rate increase in farm owners' insurance policies throughout the state.

Sykes said the Insurance Services Office had requested an increase which, combining actual monetary increases and certain changes in forms and coverage, would be tantamount to a 23.4 per cent increase.

The farm owners' insurance program covers farm dwellings and outbuildings. It is similar to homeowners' coverages that cover dwellings located within most corporate cities.

PAY FREEZE

permitting federal pay raises after Jan. 1 only as high as those permitted private employees in Phase 2 of President Nixon's economic program. Nixon is to announce Phase 2 tonight.

In introducing that amendment, Mathias and Moss were moving to strengthen their position for today's vote by softening the impact of the 5.5 to 6 per cent raise, should the civilian pay freeze be overridden.

Moss said Wednesday's amendment would prove meaningless unless the Senate rejected Nixon's postponement of the raises in the vote today.

Mathias said, however, that if Wednesday's amendment was accepted by the House, it would prevail over the President's executive order regardless of whether the Senate voted to disapprove the order.

THOUGHTS

"For there shall be a sowing of peace and prosperity: the vine shall yield its fruit, and the ground shall give its increase, and the heavens shall give their dew: and I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things." — Zechariah 8:12.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Carol Burnett Show" on CBS appears to be even more popular as an early evening comedy-variety program than it was in a late spot. It has a lot of good things going for it.

First, of course, there is Miss Burnett, a first rate clown who can sing and even dance a little. On Wednesday night she was most effective mooning around as a soap opera heroine, then she turned around and did a dandy imitation of Buster Keaton, followed by one of Katharine Hepburn.

She is back by a talented company of regulars. Harvey Korman turned up with one of the best imitations of Oliver Hardy yet, but the less said about Steve Lawrence's Stan Laurel and Humphrey Bogart the better.

The program usual has pretty good sketches but it excels in using its guest stars. Carol Channing was at her best in a musical memoir of the flapper era and very funny as a long-winded Oscar winner.

Public broadcasting's "Great American Dream Machine" had its season premiere on the nation's educational stations. The program was almost 15 minutes short of its usual hour due to an executive decision to postpone the broadcast of a controversial segment described on the air as "an investigative report on the FBI." PBS network officials decided the portion required revision and further documentation. It was announced on the program that the feature would be shown on PBS Friday night.

The "American Dream Machine" itself continues to be a haphazard mixture of comedy and serious subjects, of opinion, of crazy and sane ideas. As a whole, it is unique, imaginative, refreshing and altogether welcome.

Marshall Efron, the program's first banana, opened the show with a sardonic lecture on display of the American flag. He pointed out that many uses, including decals on car windows and jeweled pins on the lapel, may be patriotic, but are likely to be illegal under 20-year-old legislation.

Slow motion film showed a motorcycle daredevil, Evel Knievel, taking some bone-shattering spills. These were accompanied by a song, which suggested it was a great joke—but he was badly hurt and unconscious, so the sequence was not funny at all. Later a serious feature told of the dangerous work of a crop-duster. Use of insecticides was emphasized only in relation to the man's job.

Approval by the necessary two-third majority seemed assured, but supporters of the amendment first hoped to defeat a rider that would greatly reduce its impact.

The rider, added by the House Judiciary Committee, would exempt women from the draft and permit states to retain "reasonable" laws that recognize differences between the sexes.

To Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., chief sponsor of the amendment, the rider is an attempt to nullify it. She says she will vote against her own amendment if the rider is approved.

But Rep. Charles Wiggins, R-Calif., author of the rider, says it is needed to retain laws designed to protect the health and safety of women.

In a spirited debate Wednesday devoted largely to the Wiggins rider, champions of Mrs. Griffiths' amendment dismissed such "protective" laws as devices to keep women out of jobs men want.

"For instance," said Rep. Bella Abzug, R-N.Y., "there are laws that say a woman can't be a hotel desk clerk at night. But those laws don't protect a charwoman from the backbreaking work of scrubbing floors at night while their 'protectors' are sleeping."

Mrs. Abzug said the provision exempting women from the draft was designed to confuse the issue and perpetuate sex discrimination in laws.

Most opponents of the amendment said it is not necessary to amend the Constitution to guarantee women equal rights. Existing laws, particularly those dealing with civil rights and equal employment opportunity, afford broader protection than the proposed amendment, they said.

The most outspoken foe of the amendment is Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, who said it threatens family life and the institution of marriage.

TEN YEARS LATER IS TIME ENOUGH TO "TELL EVERYTHING"
Dear Sue and Helen:

My mother expects a complete report every time I go out. She even wants to know what I THINK, and what my friends are doing. These re-runs are boring; after all, I'm not wild. And if I answer her questions about my friends, she might get the wrong impression, as it's easy for her to do.

If I clam up, she's all hurt and suspects the worst. Should a teen tell her parents EVERYTHING? —QUIZZED

SUE'S VIEWS
Dear Quizzed:

Definitely not, never, no way, no how, and uh-UH!!!!
If you told your parents everything, you'd have no personal thoughts and secrets which are your private possessions, and only to be shared (if at all) with a best girl friend.

Mothers who demand minute-by-minute total recall are the worrying type who are happier NOT knowing you kissed your boyfriend ten times instead once at the door, and that several of your acquaintances have tried weed. They'd only get uptight and start lecturing, which doesn't solve anything.

Also, parents shouldn't ever expect their kids to "spy" on the younger generation, or turn informer.

Even if you have cool parents, telling them everything now ruins hilarious dinner talk later on. You should HEAR the escapades my brothers reminisce about at family get-togethers a dozen years after they can't get grounded for them! —SUE

HELEN'S TURN
Dear Quizzed:

A mother shouldn't insist her teenager tell her everything any more than she should "tell all" to her child. Everyone needs his or her private world.

BUT if the teen sees her mother as an understanding ear, not a flapping mouth, the important things seldom go unshared.

A word to your mother, "Quizzed": The woman who brags that her daughter always

Bobcats Will Entertain Crossett

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Crossett's Eagles will come to Hammons Stadium tomorrow night for a 7AA game with the Bobcats, depending mostly on jobs to carry the load once again.

Although losing most of their games so far, the Eagles have put up some good fights even though the scores may not indicate the actual type of game it was. And you can place a sure bet that Coach John Pierce, formerly a Bobcat coach, will have his forces smelling the scent of an upset.

Guiding the Eagle attack will be quarterback Mike Hutchins, a 145 pound junior who is a proven field general with quickness and a pretty accurate throwing arm. Hutchins' main backfield crew will consist of Steve Burgess, Marvin Harris, and Gary Johnson.

Burgess is a 155 pound tailback with plenty of speed and quickness while Harris, a senior standing 6-0 and weighing 196, uses his fullback duties niftily either running or blocking. Johnson has good hands to catch the ball and is sometimes elusive in the defensive secondary.

Largest members of the interior offensive line are the tackles Mike Andrews and Bob Edmondson. Andrews weighs 185 pounds in his 5-11 senior frame while Edmondson is the largest at 190. He stands 6-2 as a junior.

Other linemen include center Tony Hendrix, guards Troy Haygood and Phil Kelley, and ends Hampton Pierce and Donny Atkins. Kelly is the only other senior lineman, although he is also the smallest at only 140 pounds.

Defensively, the Eagles have a pretty tough bunch led by Linebacker Billy Houston and noseman Troy Haygood, a two-way starter.

Houston is a 6-0, 155 pound senior with plenty of quickness and power, and a nose for the football. Haygood anchors the line and is a 150 pound senior, standing only 5-7.

At the other linebacking slot could be either Billy Burchfield or Burgess. Burchfield is a senior that stands 5-10 and weighs 155 pounds. There could also be some alternating between the two.

Tackles Larry Lee and Dickie Harris provide a pretty solid line as both weigh between 190 and 200 pounds. Harris is a senior and is an inch taller at 6-1.

Hutchins and Johnson could go both ways at defensive halfbacks also with mainstays Phil Wright and John Brooks already in the lineup. Wright is a junior 150 pounder while Brooks is possibly the most experienced in his 5-7, 140 pound senior frame.

Although this is just a small rundown of the probable starting personnel for Crossett, it surely doesn't tell what kind of game to expect, but one should not take the Eagles very lightly. Crossett will be out for last years 20-13 loss to the Bobcats and also to put a district win under their belts for the season, although they are already out of the race for the 1971 title.

Don't forget the Junior High game at Camden tonight where the Bobkittens will face a tough Panther Cub bunch, searching for their second win against two ties and no losses. They should get it.

Pirates Slap Giants, Go Into Series

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH AP — Dock Ellis stops talking Saturday and tries the other thing that keeps his name in the headlines—pitching.

The 26-year-old Ellis is Man-

Dock Ellis

ager Danny Murtaugh's choice as the starting pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates in the first game of the World Series against American League champion Baltimore Saturday.

Ellis will pitch the first game of the Series if he's physically able. Murtaugh announced before the champagne had stopped flowing in the Pittsburgh dressing room after the Pirates had smashed the San Francisco Giants 9-5 Wednesday to win their first National League pennant since 1960.

Pittsburgh won the best-of-five playoff in four games with the help of super relief pitching by babyface Bruce Kison and dour Dave Giusti, and three-run homers off the bats of Rich Hebner and Al Oliver.

The only doubt in Murtaugh's mind about Ellis starting Saturday against one of Baltimore's four 20-game winners—probably Dave McNally—was the condition of the young right-hander's tender elbow.

Ellis has had trouble with the elbow all season, and it stiffened again after he went five innings Sunday in the second game of the playoffs at San Francisco.

"It's not tight today," Ellis said. And he wasn't surprised that he had the choice opening assignment.

"Danny told me in San Francisco last weekend 'you got the ball Saturday if you can make it,'" Ellis disclosed. "I'll make it. I've dreamed of being in the World Series ever since I was a little boy."

Ellis keeps the Pirates' management hopping.

"This week he described the front office as Cheapies because he had to pay $50 out of his pocket to get a larger bed in a San Francisco hotel."

Murtaugh was asked to describe the character of his championship club.

"Every club has a definite character of its own and our strength is hitting and a strong bench," Murtaugh replied.

San Francisco ripped starter Steve Blass for five runs in the first two innings, but had nothing to show for it but a 5-5 tie.

After Roberto Clemente singled home two runs in the first, Hebner smashed a three-run homer in the second off Giants' starter Gaylord Perry. At the start of the third, Murtaugh brought in the 21-year-old Kison to relieve Blass.

Kison, who last year pitched the Eastern League championship clincher at Waterbury, Conn., pitched 4 2-3 innings of shutout ball, allowing two hits.

"Earlier in the year he did a fine job against San Francisco and I wanted someone in there who could give me four or five shutout innings. He did that," Murtaugh said.

The tie lasted until the sixth when Clemente singled in his third run of the game to give the Pirates a 6-5 lead. The Giants then intentionally walked Willie Stargell, who was 0-for-14 to get to Al Oliver.

"I got a lot of pride and confidence," said Oliver, after he had slammed a 2-1 pitch from reliever Jerry Johnson over the right field wall for three game-winning runs.

The Giants had walked Stargell intentionally in the fourth, and Oliver popped out.

"I said to myself 'don't get anxious like you did against Perry the first time swinging at a fast ball. Wait on the pitch, you can handle and really air it out.'"

Giusti relieved with two outs in the seventh, fanned Dick Leitz and then retired the Giants in the final two innings.

"I threw the ball where I wanted it," said Giusti, who got three saves in the four game series.

Phelps suited up and practiced with the second team.

Reppond a Natural Split Receiver

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — With today's wide-open defenses, the split receivers have taken the spotlight as the fastest moving position.

Arkansas' offense utilizes this wide-open attack and the timing, speed and coordination between quarterback Joe Ferguson and his receivers is its backbone.

Reppond plays it fast and quick on the football field, and once he leaves the stadium — well, he still goes fast and quick.

He's Arkansas' leading receiver with 17 catches for 273 yards, and had his best game ever against TCU with seven receptions for 133 yards.

Reppond also is a motorcycle enthusiast. He owns a 250cc bike and races all sizes. His interest in cycling came naturally. Reppond's father was a racer and still owns two motorcycle shops.

"When I was born, dad was in the cycle business," Reppond said. "He turned pro from 1954 from 1958. Then after he stopped racing for a living, he opened a shop in Los Angeles and his Tri-State dealership in Joplin."

Even though his father has handled motorcycles since he was born, Reppond said he didn't start riding until he was 13-years-old.

"Back when I was 10 or 12, they didn't make bikes small enough for young kids," Reppond said. "Before I got old enough to have a bike, I used to drive my own quarter-size midget racer."

Two years after he started riding, Reppond entered his first race. He placed third in a cross-country cycle event open to all ages. Since then, Reppond has collected 10 trophies for his efforts.

"When I was in high school, dad and I would enter a lot of races together," said Reppond. "I raced about four times this summer, but since I've started football I don't ride any."

"I love to ride," Reppond said, "but I get a big kick out of football. I'm just now getting to start for a college team and it's something I've always wanted to do. I just don't want to take the chance of getting hurt now that things are going fine."

He hopes things keep going fine Saturday night at Baylor Stadium, when Arkansas plays the Bears.

May Be New Ball Game If Phillips Plays

AUSTIN, AP — It may be a new ballgame Saturday when the Texas Longhorns grapple with the Oklahoma Sooners—especially if Texas quarterback Eddie Phillips is on the field.

Phillips, sidelined since the UCLA game with a pulled leg muscle—said Wednesday he "snapped" something in his injured leg and was able to practice later Wednesday afternoon.

"I was just walking down the hall," Phillips said. "I had been having pain in my muscle and couldn't straighten my leg. Suddenly the pain increased."

Phillips said he stopped and swung his leg a couple of times and the pain was gone and I could straighten my leg."

Coach Darrell Royal, who said he was mystified, summoned team physician Dr. J. F. Renard. The doctor said Phillips apparently had broken loose some muscle scar tissue that had been building his leg.

Phillips suited up and practiced with the second team.

"I'm still not sure I'm ready," Phillips said. "Royer, et-

Orioles Know Pirates Are Hitters

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE AP — The Baltimore Orioles find it hard to reveal anything but the obvious when speaking of their World Series opponents.

To a man, the American League champions indicate that when you speak of the Pittsburgh Pirates the first thing that comes to mind is their hitting.

"They have a lot of power," Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said after the Pirates beat San Francisco Wednesday to win the National League playoffs, "and it's pretty well balanced from both sides of the plate."

As a result, Weaver was not as definite about his starting pitcher for game No. 1 in Baltimore Saturday, as he was in naming right-hander Jim Palmer to face Cincinnati's predominantly right-handed attack in the opener of the 1970 Series.

"The only thing I can say right now is that Pat Dobson probably will work out of the bullpen."

Dobson, one of four 20-game winners on the Baltimore staff, was assigned to the bullpen for the playoffs but was not needed.

As the Orioles swept three from Oakland, Dave McNally required two innings of relief from Eddie Watt, while the other 20-game winners, Mike Cuellar and Palmer, hurled complete games.

"I know our pitching is better than theirs," Coach Billy Hunter said. "I hope our hitting is as good as theirs. I just don't think our pitchers are going to give up a lot of runs."

"We probably have the edge in starters," third baseman Brooks Robinson said, "but with the off days, how many do you need in a short series anyway?"

"The Pirates hit home runs even when they're not in shape," Palmer said, recalling he gave up homers to Bobby Robertson, Richie Hebner and Al Oliver during a six-inning stint in an exhibition game.

Reserve infielder Jerry Davanon, who played in the National League last season, described Pittsburgh as "basically a fast ball hitting club—which like the Orioles, look for a big inning."

Palmer, who throws the hardest of the Baltimore starters, suggested that perhaps an off-speed pitcher might have the best luck against Pittsburgh's free swingers.

Cuellar has a fine screwball and changes speeds constantly to keep the hitters off balance. McNally, bothered by a sore arm while winning 20 games for a fourth straight year, won during the season when he was virtually without a fast ball.

"I was happy to see Pittsburgh get into the World Series," Robinson said. "Everybody said Baltimore and Pittsburgh should play each other because they were the best teams. That's the way it ought to be."

Eagles Head Coach Fired, Khayat Named

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Millionaire Leonard Tose wants to win "very badly" so he fired Jerry Williams as head coach of his winless Philadelphia Eagles and gave the job to Eddie Khayat.

"Eddie said he could produce a winner," Tose told a news conference Wednesday. "It's that simple. If we had played respectable, competitive football, if we had given our fans a hope that we could win, we wouldn't be here with a new coach."

What galled Tose were successive humiliating, lopsided National Football League defeats by Cincinnati (34-14), Dallas (42-7) and San Francisco (31-3).

The decision angered Williams, dismissed the players, surprised Khayat. Yet it had been reported in the weeks ever since last year's disastrous season.

Williams said the firing came at a time when the players and the coaching staff "were looking forward to upsetting the Minnesota Vikings" Sunday.

"Unfortunately, I was working for a man who is without courage and character," Williams said. "I was offered a sizable sum of money to resign, but to accept a bribe of that nature is to lower myself to his depths."

Responding, Tose said "I don't know what he means. I like to think I am a compassionate man. I directed General Manager Pete Retzlaff to offer as much as an additional year's salary if he would resign for the good of the team."

Retzlaff, a former Eagle player like Williams and Khayat, brought in Williams when Tose hired him as G.M. after buying the club for $12 million from Jerry Wolman in 1969.

Williams, 47, was believed to have earned around $40,000 a year. He was on the last year of a three-year contract. In 1969 the Eagles finished 4-9-1, last season 3-10-1 and now are 0-3.

"We need to win a game, that's all," said the 35-year-old Khayat, promoted from defensive coach. "When we do it will restore our confidence."

Khayat said he planned to stick with Williams' plays both offensive and defensive, and that there wouldn't have to be any changes in personnel—except maybe for some starters—if the men perform the way I

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The football game Friday night between Fort Smith Northside and Little Rock Catholic is for high rollers only.

The stakes are that big. The winner will earn the No. 1 ranking in the state and take over undisputed possession of first place in the AAAA conference.

Northside is ranked No. 1 in the state, Catholic No. 2. Both teams are unbeaten in conference play.

Northside warmed up for the Rockets with its fifth straight victory, a 35-7 decision over Springdale. Catholic rallied in the final minutes last week to salvage a 6-6 tie with Benton.

The Grizzlies may be without the services of star running back Roger Carter who has missed the past two games with a bruised back.

On a hunch, I'll take the Rockets.

LR CATHOLIC 15, FS NORTHSIDE 14.

Benton and Little Rock McClellan meet Friday night in what could be a preview of the AAA playoffs.

McClellan is tied with West Memphis for the lead in AAA-East and Benton is 2-0 in AAA-West play.

McClellan has lost twice to good AAAA teams. Benton has knocked off Hot Springs and tied Catholic the past two weeks and must avoid a let-down this week.

BENTON 10, LR MCCLELLAN 7.

Hot Springs, the defending AA champion, must defeat Texarkana this week to remain in the AAA-West. Eighth-ranked Hot Springs dropped a 20-19 decision to Benton two weeks ago. Tenth-ranked Texarkana opened conference play last week with an 18-7 victory over Fayetteville.

The Trojans should be ready for this one.

HOT SPRINGS 20, TEXARKANA 14.

Last week's percentage was .818, raising the season's percentage to .745.

Rookie Hurler Hero of the Playoff

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "You're not 21—you're at least 43," Steve Blass told Bruce Kison.

The rookie reliever pitched a cool 4 2-3 innings of relief Tuesday to pick up the Pittsburgh Pirates' pennant-clinching victory.

"Peacefully smoking a huge cigar he stole from Blass' locker while his teammates drenched each other in champagne, Kison talked about his confidence following the triumph.

"Things have gone well for me—I've no reason to be negative," said the 6-foot-4, 170 pounder. "If you go out on the mound scared, you better get out of the game."

"Sure I feel super," he said about his performance, which began after Blass was drubbed for all five Giants runs in the first two innings and Kison came in. "How else am I supposed to feel?"

Kison joined the Pirates on July 3 from Charleston, where he was 10-1, when Bob Moose went into military duty for two weeks.

"Last year I had a bad temper, yelled at umpires and got mad at myself," Kison explained. "It hurt me more than anybody else."

But Kison has his temper under wraps now.

"The biggest thing he has going for him is his attitude," says Harding Peterson, head of the Pirates' farm system.

"He's cool, got a level head. He acts much more than his age."

Only losing pitcher Gaylord Perry and Willie McCovey collected hits off him.

With two out in the seventh, McCovey singled to center and Kison uncorked a wild pitch. Bobby Bonds walked on a 3-1 pitch and reliever Dave Giusti came in.

As he walked off the field, the crowd of over 35,000 gave the blue-eyed rookie a standing ovation.

"Chills went down my back," he said.

"Somebody asked Kison if he was mentally prepared to pitch in the playoffs.

"Yeah," he replied curtly. "You give 100 per cent in every game. You can only give 100 per cent."

Later puffing on his cigar, he looked up and calmly said: "You know, this will be my first World Series."

Colts Only Team to Keep Position

NEW YORK (AP) — Only the Baltimore Colts managed to retain their top spot among national Football League team leaders, according to statistics released today by the league.

The Colts continued to provide the stingiest defense in the American Conference, giving up 536 yards to the 701 allowed by runner-up Denver.

The Broncos were best against the pass by permitting just 276 yards, 10 less than the Colts, while the Kansas City Chiefs, fifth overall on defense, provided the best wall against the rush, giving up just 188 yards to the 242 allowed by Pittsburgh.

Washington slipped to second place in NFC defense behind Minnesota, which gave up 600 total yards to the Redskins' 678.

And the Vikes stood up best against the pass by allowing 308 yards, 98 less than No. 2 St. Louis. Detroit, a distant ninth over-all, nevertheless remained best against a ground assault as the Lions permitted just 235 yards to the 267 given up by the Redskins.

On offense, San Francisco's 1201 total yards gave them first place over Atlanta's 1045 in the NFC as last week's leader, Dallas, fell to third.

Green Bay was best on the ground with 594 yards as the 49ers and Los Angeles tied for second with 562 apiece while Atlanta was the easy aerial leader with 747 to San Francisco's 639.

In the AFC, San Diego leads in total offense with 1009 yards, a skippy two above Oakland. Kansas City is the rushing leader with 586 yards to Pittsburgh's 579 and the Chargers also own the air with 665 yards passing to runnerup Cincinnati's 609.

WOMAN'S PLACE: Up there in the stands cheering or down there on the field breaking up double plays? Mrs. Janice Lawler, left, jumped on a plane in London to come to the United States and cheer on the British lads in the Ryder Cup Golf Matches, wearing her patriotic pants. But Jackie Jackson, right, a 23-year-old cost analyst, would like to break into professional baseball and has been warming up by playing first base and pitching in a men's softball league.

Richardson May Miss Texas Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday it would probably be several weeks yet before tailback Jon Richardson would be able to return to the Razorback lineup.

Richardson, who suffered a bone fracture in his right leg Sept. 25, will be "pushing" to get ready for the Texas A&M game, Broyles said.

The Porkers continued to work Wednesday on play recognition during a two-hour practice. Broyles said he was still apprehensive about the team's progress.

"The defense starting getting better on recognizing plays, but the offense was still dragging," Broyles said. "They haven't been able to show much."

Good Players Only Way to Lick Wishbone

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — You can talk about techniques all you want, but Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks figures the only way you can whip the Wishbone-T offense is with good people.

"We've tried about everything we can try," Fairbanks said Wednesday over a telephone hookup with Texas Coach Darrell Royal. "It boils down more to players on the field than techniques."

It will be Wishbone-T versus the Wishbone-T Saturday in the Cotton Bowl when the third-ranked Longhorns and the eighth-ranked Sooners meet.

Royal, who made the Wishbone offense one of the most popular in the country, agreed with Fairbanks.

"There's no reason to try to give somebody a different look," he said. "You're just allowed to use 11 people and you just don't go around changing your defenses completely."

Royal, of course, remembers how ragged Oklahoma looked last year when the Sooners tried to surprise Texas with the Wishbone and were burned 41-9 by the Longhorns.

"There's no resemblance to that team and the one Oklahoma has this year," Royal said. "You remember when we started out in the offense we were a little shaky."

Fairbanks expects no surprises from Texas.

"Texas will go out and do what they've been winning with," Fairbanks said.

Texas won't have all of what it has been winning with. Royal said he isn't even sure whether No. 1 quarterback Eddie Phillips will suit up for the game because of injury. Split end Jim Moore is out.

Fairbanks said he knew second-string quarterback Donnie Wigginton of the Horns was a good leader but added "I don't think you can lose a great player (like Phillips) and be the same."

Fairbanks said Oklahoma compared more physically with third-ranked Texas than at any time since 1967.

"In 1967, we were close physically," Fairbanks said. The Sooners haven't beaten Texas since 1966.

Artis Gilmore Awesome to Everyone

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Artis Gilmore, the 7-foot-2 rookie of the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association, had just scored 16 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked seven shots in an exhibition against Baltimore of the National Basketball Association when Bullets' Coach Gene Shue exclaimed:

"He's awesome. He's fantastic."

Bullets' center Wes Unseld, who had played against Gilmore, said, "I don't see anything to hold him back." And Baltimore guard Kevin Loughery called Gilmore "one of the five best players in pro basketball right now."

Jim McDaniels of the Carolina Cougars played two pre-season games against Baltimore and totaled 39 points and 27 rebounds, prompting Bullets' forward Jack Marin to call him "amazing." Marin added: "He's going to be an exceptionally fine basketball player."

The two seven-foot All-Americans of the 1970-71 collegiate season—Gilmore, with Jacksonville, and McDaniels, with Western Kentucky—are among a covey of outstanding rookies who will begin regular-season play in the ABA on Oct. 13. Others include Julius Erving from Massachusetts and Willie Sojourner from Weber State, both with Virginia; Darnell Hillman from San Jose State and George McGinnis from Indiana University, both with the Indiana Pacers; Jody Neumann, signed by Memphis after he led the nation's collegiate scorers as a sophomore at Mississippi, and John Roche from South Carolina, with the New York Nets.

The addition of Gilmore has helped establish the Colonels as favorites to win the regular-season title in the Eastern Division. They finished behind Virginia last season but eliminated the Squires in the playoffs.

With Gilmore at center, Joe Mullaney, Kentucky's new coach, has switched last season's ABA scoring champion, Dan Issel, from the pivot to his natural position of forward.

The Colonels also are well fortified with veterans, including Lou Dampier, Darel Carrier, Jim Ligon, Cincy Powell, Walt Simon and Les Hunter.

Carolina, with McDaniels, also has a new coach in Tom Meschery. However, the Cougars' supporting cast is not as strong as Kentucky, especially with Joe Caldwell still hurting after tearing cartilage in his right knee at the end of last season.

Virginia also has physical problems, with guard Mike Barrett out for the season with a broken wrist bone and forward

Doug Moe an uncertain starter for the season opener because of an injured left knee. But with Erving and Sojourner plus Charlie Scott, a 27-point scorer in his rookie year last season, the Squires should not lack for scoring power.

Indiana, defending regular season Western Division champion but eliminated in the playoffs by league champion Utah, appears even stronger this season with Hillman and McGinnis. The pacers already had a tremendous front line in center Mel Daniels, the league's rebound leader and Most Valuable Player, and Roger Brown and Bob Netolicky.

Utah, the surprise champion last season, has its starting lineup back with Zelmo Beaty at center, Glen Combs and Merv Jackson at guards, and Red Robbins and Willie Wise at Forwards. But the Stars have a new coach in LaDell Andersen and a valuable new reserve, Jimmy Jones, picked up from Memphis.

Neumann, who signed for a reported $2.0 million with Memphis after averaging more than 40 points a game in his only varsity season at Mississippi, is the key to the Pros' success this season, particularly with the departure of Steve Jones, a 23.6 scorer, and Jimmy Jones a 19.5 scorer.

Roche, a standout at South Carolina, might have a difficult time breaking into the Nets' starting backcourt, which has veterans Boll Melchionni and LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The fact that Southern Illinois University fullback George Loukas carried the football a school record 35 times last week may hurt the Salukis Saturday.

"He's only 6-0, 185 pounds," said SIU Coach Dick Tower about Loukas. "Unless you're a big kid, that kind of performance takes something out of you. I doubt if anybody's going to be the same after they put out that much effort."

Loukas netted 227 yards and had a 58-yard run nullified by a penalty in the Salukis' 26-24 loss to Wichita State.

"We ran 100 offensive plays and they ran 54," Tower said. "That's a hell of a lot of offensive plays to be running and not win. We had 13 penalties and 11 of them were of the 15-yard variety."

The Salukis take on top-ranked Arkansas State University Saturday night at Carbon-dale, Ill. ASU beat the Salukis 27-3 last year and edged Wichita 16-14 earlier in the year.

"They (ASU) look to me to be the same type of ball club as last year," Tower said. "If anything, they appear to be stronger. Their key people are back."

"Defensively, they're very impressive," Tower said. "Offensively, they execute what they have extremely well."

Tower says ASU tailbacks Calvin Harrell and Johnny Carr are great backs and also praise

Joe DePre. The Nets also have forward Rick Barry, the league's second top scorer last season.

Pittsburgh has two standout forwards in All-Star John Brisker and George Cter, obtained from Virginia, while the Floridians are relying on a high-scoring backcourt duo of Mack Calvin and Larry Jones who combined for 51.5 points a game last season.

Dallas and Denver both have new coaches and strong guards. Tom Nissalke is the Chaps' coach and Steve Jones and Donnie Freeman their backcourt combination. Alex Hannum, who coached the San Diego Rockets of the NBA last season, now heads the Rockets at Denver. His top players include guards Larry Cannon and Ralph Simpson.

es James Hamilton, the Indians' quarterback.

"You have to like Hamilton as a quarterback he can do so many things," Tower said. "He can throw the ball and run the option and punt."

SIU's defense may be susceptible to the big play.

"Wichita scored on a kickoff return and two long passes," Tower said. "And, that's not the mark of a good defense, we had people in the area but they just did a poor job of knocking the ball down."

Tower says the Salukis' defense would have been comparable to the Indians' defense except for injuries.

"Defensively, we've been wiped out by injuries," Tower said. "Our top six defensive linemen will be out Saturday night."

He reeled off the injuries — bruised knee, broken ankle, badly bruised calf, ruptured blood vessel, badly sprained ankle and a torn ligament in the knee.

"Now, it's a matter of whether or not your young kids on defense get up for the game and how many mistakes Arkansas State makes," Tower said. "Three members of our front four are sophomores."

Loukas made much of his yardage Saturday behind the blocking of tight end Lionel Antoine.

Thursday, October 7, 1971

"He's 6-7 and weighs 250 and has good speed," Tower said. "We think he's the best tight end in the country. He did a fantastic job of springing Loukas last week."

SIU whipped Dayton and Illinois State before losing to Wichita. ASU was idle last week after a victory over Northeast Louisiana.

Old man Y grinned as he put down the dummy. He said, "Fifty years and still I never get to play a hand."

Z looked over dummy and called for the queen of hearts. East plunked on the king and returned the suit.

Finally Z replied to Y, "Maybe you should have played this one. That king of hearts really belonged in the West hand."

Then Z led a spade from dummy. East played the four spot and Z produced the nine. The nine knocked out West's ace. From then on the only trick Z had to lose was the ace of diamonds.

Y remarked, "This doesn't look like a hand you played in the old auction days. You must really be getting on to contract play."

"Elementary, old friend," chorled Z. "Once East showed up with the king of hearts it became certain that West held both the spade and the diamond aces. This wasn't going to do me any good if West also held either the jack or 10 of spades. There would be no way then for me to avoid the loss of two trump tricks. I gave myself that slight extra chance of finding East with both those intermediate cards."

It was a slight extra chance but a large part of the difference between expert play and ordinary play lies in those extra chances the expert gives himself.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB Ulcer Operation Has Complication

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have had stomach ulcers for a long time and have had three operations, with 75 per cent of my stomach removed and the last time the nerves were clipped. Since then, I have diarrhea pretty bad, get spells of a sick stomach and am real weak and nervous. Sometimes it bothers me nearly every day and other times not for two weeks.

My doctor told me not to take medicine, that it should clear up in two years. That time is past and it seems to be getting worse. The doctor died recently and I wondered if you could give me any advice as to diet, treatment, etc. I am a welder. Is hard work injurious?

Dear Reader—You are describing what is called "dumping." It is a complication of your surgery. The problem disappears in most patients within a year after surgery, but in a few it persists.

The food that would normally stay in the stomach to be mixed and acted upon by stomach fluids is "dumped" immediately into the small intestine. Usually, part of the small intestine has also been removed at surgery. The dumping over distends the small intestine, which is not used to receiving such a large bulk of food at one time.

In an effort to dilute the food mixture, fluid pours into the intestine from the bloodstream, just like it does after certain laxatives. This increases the overloading of the intestine and produces a laxative effect.

The loss of fluid from the bloodstream can decrease the volume of blood, causing a person to feel faint.

The events also trigger the release of excess insulin, causing low blood sugar.

Happy Ending Ends End of Film Fun

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—One small triumph for women's lib—they're shooting a movie about that noble movement, called "Stand Up and Be Counted." It will star Jackie Bisset and Steve Lawrence.

And they've hired a female publicist and a female still photographer to work the picture.

Let's Hear It for Sunsets

I keep wondering why I liked "Fools' Parade" so much and I've finally figured it out. It has a happy ending.

This is the era of downbeat endings to downbeat films. If a picture doesn't wind up with the antihero dead, dying or drugged, the in-crowd considers it a cop-out. In film after film, the final fade-out finds everything worse than it was when it began. Sadness is in. Happiness is out.

I think the whole point of filmed entertainment is escape. Life, these days, is full of unhappy endings. Who needs to go to the movies to be depressed?

So why not bring back the happy ending in movies? Maybe a few more cheerful sunsets and more people would be buying tickets. Then, once again, the movie theater could be a place where we'd get a transfusion of hope instead of having our dreams kicked in the teeth.

The Merry Life in McKeesport

Jan Michael Vincent is just back from McKeesport, Pa., where he costarred with Robert Mitchum and Brenda Vaccaro in "Going Home." It's his first theatrical movie, after a couple of TV films, including his lead in the much-honored "Tribes."

"It was a rough location," says the young, handsome actor. "The people there didn't think we were human, but humanoid."

He says they drove past the motel where the company was staying, peeking in the windows of the cast's rooms. There was one middle-aged lady who somehow got a key to Mitchum's room. She kept letting herself in, taking off her clothes and hopping into his bed. He finally had to have police guards.

Vincent is a beach lover. After he quit college, he went to Mexico and sat on the beach for six months, trying to figure out what to do with his life.

He went into the Army and didn't like it and it didn't like him. So "Tribes" was a labor of love. "It said all the things I wanted to say about the military."

He still lives at the beach with his "old lady." He says she's "almost my wife and maybe she is, legally."

It's been seven years since we decided to become partners, he says. "And we had a kind of wedding ceremony in Mexico. We were up in the hills, with some Indians, and an old witch doctor dabbed us with paint and El Jete wrote it down somewhere, so I guess we're married. Not that it matters much to either of us."

Flicker Ticker

And the lawyers shall inherit the earth—Herb Gardner says his contract, to write and produce "Who Is Harry Kellerman" was longer than the script. Wendell Burton lives in San Francisco and flies to Los Angeles for his appointments. But he won't fly on one particular airline because they charge him half-fare for his guitar, and he doesn't travel anywhere without his guitar.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Horace Mann, educator, greatly reformed the American school system during the 1840s. The World Almanac recalls that as secretary of the Massachusetts state board of education he established state teacher-training institutions, increased teacher salaries and stimulated public interest in the problems of the schools.

Arkansas One of States to Waste Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressman whose subcommittee is investigating federal crime-fighting grants said Wednesday that Arkansas was one of at least two states that was wasting the taxpayers' money by using shoddy purchase practices.

Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., said after quizzing state officials from Arkansas and Wisconsin that "their own admissions indicate that in competitive bidding the appraisal of equipment there hasn't been any unified practice."

He said it was obvious that the best interests of the taxpayers had not been maintained. Morgan is chairman of the House Government Operations subcommittee investigating federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration block grants to the states.

Subcommittee investigators monitoring use of funds in Wisconsin and Arkansas reported that a very large portion of the money was going for the purchase of police radio equipment and in both states nearly all sales were being made by the Motorola Co.

Several instances were listed in which various Arkansas localities purchased Motorola equipment without going through a bidding process. In one Polk County case that was pointed out, General Electric's bid reportedly was 31 per cent lower but Motorola still won the contract.

Ray Biggerstaff, director of the Arkansas Commission on Crime and Law Enforcement, said cities and counties are not required to call for bids unless the estimated purchase price is above a specific figure.

Biggerstaff said the LEAA was created and put into operation so fast that there was "insufficient time and guidance given the states to create governing boards, professional staffs, administrative and operative procedures, and for establishing local planning."

Says Wetback Worked at W. White House

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Times reported today that an illegal Mexican alien, using forged identification papers, worked for two days as a gardener at the Western White House before his identity was discovered.

The newspaper published the story in connection with a report Tuesday by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service of a raid at the Mexican food products firm of the treasurer-designate of the United States, Romana Banelos, in which the government said 36 illegal Mexican aliens were apprehended.

The Times gave this account: Francisco Martinez-Llamas, 32, was hired last July as a landscaper at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif. He used falsified papers to enter the country.

Martinez-Llamas passed a Secret Service check and worked two days before being apprehended by the FBI. He voluntarily left the country.

The White House had no immediate comment on whether security regulations were violated.

On Wednesday, the White House had said President Nixon wasn't considering withdrawing his nomination of Mrs. Banelos as U.S. treasurer after the federal raid on her food products firm in suburban Gardena.

Bombers Keep Pounding the Enemy

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers launched heavy strikes in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos today, while ground fighting dwindled to small patrol clashes and shell-ing attacks.

Some 30 of the Stratofortresses dropped 900 tons of explosives on suspected North Vietnamese troop positions, storage depots and supply routes in the three countries.

About half of the strikes were along the South Vietnam-Cambodia frontier where North Vietnamese troops were reported pulling back after a 10-day offensive of mostly rocket and mortar attacks against South Vietnamese bases on both sides of border.

Field reports said there were only a few light shellings in the region 60 to 90 miles northwest of Saigon today, including a seven-round mortar barrage against U.S. Fire Base Pace on the Cambodian border. No U.S. casualties or damage was reported.

Typhoon Elaine curtailed allied operations in the northern quarter of South Vietnam with a backlash of heavy rains and strong winds.

In other developments, the U.S. Command announced the completion of the deactivation of the Americal Division's 1st Infantry. Phaseout of the battalion reduces U.S. strength in Vietnam by about 900 men.

In Saigon, a government pickup truck was firebombed during disturbances near the Van Hanh Buddhist University. Its driver escaped unhurt.

British, Irish Guerrillas in Gun Battle

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops and guerrillas fought a gun battle across the frontier between Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic early today, army headquarters reported.

The clash followed a surge of shooting, bombing and rioting in Belfast. In one period 10 explosions in 10 minutes occurred in the capital of the British province.

The border battle flared when a British infantry patrol spotted two men placing a package—later discovered to be gelignite—behind a customs post at Middletown, County Armagh. When challenged, the men ran toward the republic.

"The soldiers pursued them and were fired on by automatic weapons from across the border," the army said. The troops returned the fire.

The spokesman added it was "a very rare occurrence" for British troops to shoot into the republic. There were no army casualties in the incident.

A detective sergeant and civilian were shot and seriously wounded by two guerrilla gunmen who attacked them from the rear in a Belfast street early today, police reported. The assailants escaped.

One of 10 explosions in the city Wednesday night damaged buildings at Belfast's port terminal where ferries ply between Northern Ireland and England.

The latest warfare between British soldiers and gunmen believed to be members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army came as provincial Prime Minister Brian Faulkner prepared to fly to London for security talks with the British government starting today.

Iron-on Design for Halloween

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

What are you going to do for Halloween this year?

That's the question they start asking each other along about the second day of school, as soon as the novelty of the new teacher has worn off, and they talk about nothing else for a full six to eight weeks, with the costumes getting more and more complicated as the Big Night draws near.

Somewhere along the line, Halloween stops being a charming diversion for the neighborhood kiddies and starts resembling a full-scale Broadway musical. Mothers start to find that Halloween is second only to Christmas when it comes to plain, old hard work. Some even develop battle fatigue from sitting up nights sewing elaborate costumes. In some cases, raiding the ragbag for materials isn't good enough—Mom is expected to lay out a fair stake in new costume ingredients.

As the costumes escalate, so does the competition. So, in turn, do the handouts, the tricks and the general uproar.

Let's get Halloween back on a simpler level this year, beginning with the costumes.

There's no reason to spend as much time sewing a costume as in sewing a school dress—and there are all sorts of short-cuts you can use to create plenty of spooky effect with a minimum of work.

White iron-on tapes and fabrics are terrific for creating quick-and-easy outfits. For instance, you can create the world's most convincing skeleton outfit by ironing on white bones against a black background—an old leotard, or black tights and dyed T-shirt. Just cut the bones to the approximate size of the child, and iron in place. A grinning skull face is just as easy to iron-on to a black hood.

What are other uses for iron-on tapes? Make a skunk outfit, with a broad stripe down the back; a pirate's flag with skull and crossbones; an inchworm outfit with inches magic-marked onto a strip of tape; or a mysterious emblem on the back of a cape.

So keep the sewing to a minimum for Halloween, and let iron-ons create the effect you want. You'll have some sewing time to invest in real clothes.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Sketch a skeleton shape onto white Bandex iron-on fabric and press onto an old leotard for a no-sew Halloween outfit. Inexpensive, easy and fun to do.

Archie's Edith: A Dingbat On-stage Only

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD—NEA—It's a very good thing for American television that there's a dingbat in the Stapleton family.

Jean Stapleton plays Edith Bunker on CBS' All in the Family, and plays it so well she won an Emmy last year. There's a big difference between the dumb nasality of Edith Bunker and the soft-spoken intelligence of Jean Stapleton. This is a time actress at work creating a real character.

"The character of Edith," she says, "isn't completely modeled after anyone. But there are many facets of a very dear aunt—a beloved dingbat. She would have loved the show."

Jean Stapleton likes the show, too, which is only natural. But she likes to think that her view of it is objective, and she has been impressed by the fact that all ages and all political viewpoints seem equally captivated by the program.

There has been considerable controversy, in Hollywood, over a statement made by Norman Lear. He called his protagonist, Archie Bunker, who is played by Carroll O'Connor, a "lovable bigot." Many Hollywood people objected to that phrase, saying that it is patently impossible for a bigot to be lovable.

"That's just a question of semantics," Miss Stapleton says. "His bigotry is not lovable, it's laughable. But Archie is lovable. I think that's what Norman meant."

She thinks that satire, which the show is, is a healthy thing.

"By laughing at bigotry," she says, "we're not exonerating it, we're focusing on it."

Her two children—Pam is 12 and John is 11—watch the show and she believes it has been educational for them and for all children.

"Boy, will they know an Archie when they meet one," she says.

She's met a few in her time, particularly in and around New York, where she was born and grew up. Her father was in outdoor advertising and her mother was a concert and opera singer, named Marie Stapleton-Murray.

She grew up loving music and, in her high school year, book, where it lists what the graduates want to do with their lives, next to the picture of Jean Murray it says "Music Critic."

"But that was because I knew music critics got free tickets," she says. "I know, even in high school, that I wanted to act."

But she wasn't sure she could make it, so she learned secretarial work. She started acting in summer stock in '41, but didn't quit her secretarial job for another six years. Then, when she had done considerable Broadway work and some TV and films, she felt secure enough to resign and devote herself exclusively to acting.

She had an older brother who wanted to act, too. He used the name Stapleton because he thought it was more distinguished than Murray. He died before Jean was in high school, but she decided to use the name Stapleton, too, partly in his memory.

She has another name now—Putch—since she is Mrs. William Putch. He runs a small theater in Fayetteville, Pa., which the family calls home. Their house is on the grounds of Caledonia State Park, and it's really a big, modernized log cabin.

"But it has heat and plumbing," Jean says. "And the woods around it are full of wild turkeys."

The family has leased a home in Los Angeles, at least for the duration of All in the Family. The children will go to school here and her husband is here for the winter, and probably will do some acting, too.

"We're all adjusting," Jean says. "The kids have discovered surfing and I've discovered magnolias."

They may be here for a while. Hollywood likes Jean Stapleton and she must admit that she's enjoying her first real fame.

"I'm finding an unexpected pleasure in being recognized," she says.

A Tasty Way to Diet

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Calorie counting is a realistic way to lose weight. Exercise more to burn up calories as you eat less and the pounds will slowly but surely disappear. This method does take more time than the quickie diets which take off pounds in a rush, but create a physical strain. Also most individuals immediately regain pounds lost in this way. Many delicious foods are low calorie. Memorize a list of these so you will have a variety of foods while dieting. A Mushroom-Beef Roulade casserole provides many nutrients in a flavorful way. With it serve low-calorie cauliflower seasoned with herbs rather than butter or a cheese sauce.

Mushroom-Beef Roulade casserole is tasty way to diet.

LOW-CALORIE MUSHROOM-BEEF ROULADE

1/2 pound fresh mushroom or 1 can (8-oz.) mushroom stems and pieces and 1 can (3- to 4-oz.) sliced mushrooms

1/2 cup finely chopped onion

1/2 cup finely chopped celery

1/4 cup grated carrot

1 tablespoon chopped parsley

2 tablespoons water

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning

1 1/2 teaspoons salt

1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

2 1/2 pounds (8 individual) lean minute steaks (cut from chuck or round)

1 can (8-oz.) tomato sauce

Rinse, pat dry and dice 1/2-lb. and slice 1/4-lb. fresh mushrooms or drain can of sliced mushrooms; set aside. Add to mushrooms in skillet, onion, celery, carrot, parsley, water, lemon juice, poultry seasoning. 1/2-teaspoon salt and 1/4-teaspoon black pepper. Cover tightly and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are tender, about 10 minutes. Sprinkle steaks with remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4-teaspoon black pepper. Place heaping tablespoon of cooked mushroom mixture on each steak. Roll up and fasten with toothpick or tie with string. Place under preheated broiler and broil, turning to brown on all sides; arrange in casserole. Pour juice from broiler pan and tomato sauce over meat. Stir in reserved 1/4-pound sliced fresh mushrooms or canned sliced mushrooms. Cover casserole and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until meat is tender. Makes 8 portions.

Food Labels Can Be Important

By GAYNOR MADDOX

From Washington comes the news that increasing consumer demands for more informative food labels are beginning to get results.

But what specific information should the cans, packages and jars of food reveal?

We asked four housewives what they wanted labels to tell them about food. And we received four different answers. So you can understand why the government regulatory agencies such as the Food and Drug Administration and manufacturing groups are still uncertain about what to tell about their products.

Christine R. Pines of Long Island, N.Y., is a housewife with three children, a husband and a part-time job. She's not too keen about how much protein a product contains.

"We are all overburdened with protein, I think. Look at my teen-age son. He is six feet, six inches tall—fed up on protein. We should all be told the proportion of protein in TV dinners, combination package meals and other food mixtures."

She wants labels to tell what kind of oil is used. "Coconut oil is cheaper, but saturated, and is not good for anyone with heart trouble, but a lot of people don't know that," she says.

A New York junior high schoolteacher wonders how sincere some of the leaders of consumer drives are. "Do they carefully examine the food enough before they start a crusade against it?" asks Natalie Stiber, housewife and mother of two.

I'm no longer interested in price as a guide to quality," she says. "I have come to believe recently that most canned foods are processed by a few large companies under various names. Then some are priced higher, some lower, but they are all practically the same product."

Livestock Show Fat Calf Sale

Wilderness Boy in Hands of Court

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy who lived in a wilderness 37 days after he fled from his home when he accidentally wounded his twin sister with a shotgun blast has a temporary new home in a juvenile shelter.

William Floyd Merrick left his home in flight Aug. 24 and lost 20 pounds living off the land. Authorities say he spent part of the time with a band of hippies in a wild area near his Atlantic Beach home.

His sister Bonnie died three days after she was shot, but Merrick didn't know about it.

"He was greatly disturbed when he learned of his sister's death," said Lucy Farley, a juvenile court counselor. "He said he had not known what had happened."

Patrolman D. P. Green found Merrick last Friday walking through sand dunes along the ocean.

"He was kind of puny," Green said of Merrick. "He weighed about 80 pounds and his pants were too big for him. I bought him lunch before we went to the station, and he unthawed it."

Green said he didn't realize Merrick was the boy who had shot his sister until they reached the police station and asked if there had been any trouble at his house.

"He started crying," Green said. "All of a sudden I knew this was the boy who shot his sister. We got to talking and he admitted it."

Merrick said he and his sister were going through the door to go shoot the gun when he tripped and the gun fired. Authorities said the teenager told them he then helped his sister onto a couch, called an ambulance and ran.

Authorities said the sister told the same story before she died.

"He's not charged with any delinquent act," Juvenile Court Judge Clifford Shepard said. "It was an accidental thing."

"He's in our jurisdiction as a runaway," Shepard said. "We are trying to work out a placement with a family."

Green said Merrick's stepfather came to the police station when the boy was found but said, "I can't keep him. He'll just run again."

Breakdown of Authorized Procurement Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a look at the $21-billion military-procurement authorization bill passed by the Senate Wednesday.

Major provisions: Bill authorizes spending of $13.3 billion for procurement of planes, missiles, ships, tanks and other weapons, plus $7.6 billion for research, development, test and evaluation. It includes also an additional $381 million increase in military pay.

Major weapons: Bill includes $1.1 billion for continued work on the Safeguard missile defense system; $801.6 million for procurement of 43 of the new F14 carrier-based fighter interceptors; $370.2 million for continued development of the B1 advanced manned bomber; $396.4 million for the C5A super transport; and $2.5 billion for military aid to South Vietnam, Laos and Thailand, the bulk of it for South Vietnamese forces.

The 1971, Third District Livestock Show Fat Calf Sale was the largest in many years, according to W. R. Vandivere, Associate County Extension Agent. Of the 29 calves that were exhibited by 4-H and FFA Members, twenty-five were offered for sale.

Sixteen buyers purchased twenty-four of these calves for a total value of $8,234.30 or an average of $343.09 per calf. Average sale price per pound was 38.14c. The steer bringing the top price per pound was exhibited by Foy Massingill of the Guernsey 4-H Club and sold for $0.50c per lbs. This steer was purchased by the First National Bank of Nashville. The Grand Champion Steer exhibited by Gary Hines of the Emerson FFA Chapter brought 43.00c per lb. and was purchased by Hillman Koen of Koen Farms at Hope.

Other buyers, and number of steers purchased are listed as follows:

Gunter Farms of Hope — 2 calves.
Toilet Oil Company of Hope — 1 calf.
Nashville PCA of Hope and Nashville — 3 calves.
Green Fincher for Mountaire Poultry Company — 1 calf.

Coming And Going

Frank Rhodes, Mrs. Mildred Ford of Detroit, Michigan, and Mrs. Miriam Robinson of Philadelphia, Pa., were recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Muldrew, Sr., of Emmet.

They visited other relatives and friends in Emmet, Prescott, Blevins, Hope, and Magnolia.

Hope — 1 calf.

Danny Joyce of O. K. Feed Mill of Hope — 1 calf.

1st National Bank of Hope — 1 calf.

Pat Reeves of Reeves Feed Mill of Nashville — 2 calves.

Warren Plyler - Farm Bureau Insurance of Hope — 1 calf.

Brown Packing Company of Little Rock set the animals in with a base bid depending on grade and weight. As a result many of the premium buyers returned the steers to Brown for slaughter.

Because of the interest of these individuals and organizations in the youth of southwest Arkansas, the Fat Calf Committee has termed this sale the most successful in recent years.

Arkansas Spring Water Is Big Business

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "Every few days," says John Scott, president of the American Bottled Water Association, "I get letters from people who say they've got a spring on their place and they're thinking of bottling it."

They can hardly be blamed for trying to cash in on what they feel is a simple, profitable business. If nature delivers the water to their backyard, they figure, it didn't intend them to let it pour down the sewer.

Scott invariably discourages them. Chances are high that the spring is shallow and therefore the flow inconsistent. The ingredients, and so the taste, may vary too much for customer loyalty to develop.

Moreover, huge amounts of money must be invested in bottles, machinery and marketing. Mammoth corporations are making competition increasingly tougher.

And, contrary to some reports of growing demand, the industry's output grows at a percentage no greater than that for soft drinks.

Sales for the entire bottled water industry total somewhere between $100 million and $110 million a year, Scott estimates. For soft drinks, the yearly increase alone equals that figure.

Says Scott, also president of the Mountain Valley Water Co., Hot Springs, Ark., "People are rushing to bottle it more than they are rushing to drink it." And what they are bottling is hardly the same product.

Some water currently on store shelves came out of the tap and was distilled or re-constituted according to a formula. Some came from artesian wells. Some came from natural springs which bubble to the surface.

So great are the varieties of waters in bottles that the term itself is hardly more descriptive than, for example, "soft drink."

Spring waters, which many people incorrectly assume is what all bottled waters are, reach the surface under their own pressure, usually from great depths or great distances. And they are uniform.

Scott maintains that the Mountain Valley spring never changes temperature, mineral content or rate of flow and probably hasn't in the hundreds of years since it pushed its way up through 450 million-year-old marble.

But whether from springs, wells or taps, the waters are united in the claims of purity

Rogers Plans More Mid-east Conferences

By KENNETH J. FREED

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. officials have set up more meetings with Egyptian and Israeli diplomats to try to determine where the latest statements by Cairo and Jerusalem leave the American effort for an interim Middle East settlement.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers meets Friday with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad of Egypt to explore the Cairo official's speech Wednesday to the U.N. General Assembly. It will be their second discussion this week.

In a breakfast session today, the State Department's Middle East specialist, Asst. Secretary Joseph Sisco, planned to go over developments with Israeli Ambassador Itzhak Rabin.

There were surprising developments Wednesday from both sides, at least in terms of language.

Riad insisted Egypt would never accept a separate interim agreement on reopening the Suez Canal, but he used much milder language than other Cairo officials had in the past. And, U.S. officials said, he left open the possibility of an interim settlement if part-and-parcel of an over-all peace agreement.

On the other hand, Israeli Premier Golda Meir issued a statement in Jerusalem charging Rogers had encouraged Egypt to hold to a "rigid position," in his speech to the U.N. this week.

"I am afraid that in the process of making such statements, Mr. Rogers made it more difficult for himself to offer the good services he had intended," she said.

Riad generally refrained from such attacks in his speech, which American officials said was most important for not closing any doors on the U.S. interim settlement efforts.

In fact, he never directly referred to the Rogers' six-point proposal, an omission Egyptian officials explained indicated Cairo has not ruled out an interim Suez settlement if it is directly connected to a final agreement.

Pick Your Place on Tax Tables

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are estimated taxes on selected incomes for each of the next three years in the tax bill approved Wednesday by the House. The figures up to $10,000 assume you take the standard 10 per cent deduction; the $15,000 and $20,000 figures assume an 18 per cent deduction.

20,000 2,710,685 2,610 2,610

WASHINGTON (AP) — The following table shows how persons at or near the poverty level would be exempted from income tax next year under the bill passed Wednesday by the House.

Number in Poverty Taxfree Level family Level Present Bill
1 $2,170 $1,750 $2,050
2 2,810 2,500 2,800
3 3,350 3,250 3,550

5 5,050 4,750 5,050
6 5,680 5,500 5,800

by their producers, although this also could become their common problem.

The association, which recently concluded its annual meeting, hopes to develop standards of purification, enforced through plant visits and inspections of product, equipment and personnel.

"We may have to tell some companies they should not be in the bottled water business," says Scott.
